Callahan, Mary Patricia <b. 1961>
ISBN 0-8014-4125-0 (cloth)
Note: ‘Burma’s colonial past had seen a large imbalance between the military and civil sectors. That imbalance was accentuated soon after formal independence by one of the earliest and most persistent covert Cold War conflicts, involving CIA-funded Kuomintang incursions across the Burmese border into the People’s Republic of China. Because this raised concerns in Rangoon about the possibility of a showdown with Communist China, the Burmese Army received even more autonomy and funding to protect the integrity of the new nation-state.’ "The military transformed itself during the late 1940s and the 1950s from a group of anticolonial guerrilla bands into the professional force that seized power in 1962. The army edged out all other state and social institutions in the competition for national power. Making Enemies draws on Callahan’s interviews with former military officers and her archival work in Burmese libraries and halls of power. Callahan’s unparalleled access allows her to correct existing explanations of Burmese authoritarianism and to supply new in-

Note: Anna Kavan died in 1968 aged sixty-seven, a victim of the heroin to which she had been addicted for the last thirty years of her life. Yet she was a prolific writer and an accomplished painter. Her literary work, widely acclaimed, has been transl. into French, Spanish, Italian, Dutch, Danish and Japanese. She was born in Cannes of English parents and spent her childhood in Europe, Cali-

Les territoires de l’opium : géopolitique dans les espaces du Triangle d’Or et du Croissant d’Or / Pierre-Arnaud Chouvy.
Birmanie, Laos, Thaïlande et Afghanistan, Iran, Pakistan

Abstract : Le Triangle d’Or et le Croissant d’Or sont, depuis la Seconde Guerre mondiale, les deux plus importants espaces de production illicite d’opiacés au monde. Les cultures du pavot à opium, Papaver somniferum L., à partir desquelles sont produits l’opium, la morphine et l’héroïne, sont réparties dans les espaces frontaliers contigus de la Birmanie, du Laos et de la Thaïlande pour le premier, et dans ceux de l’Afghanistan, de l’Iran et du Pakistan pour le second. Lorsque l’on connaît l’origine géographique du pavot à opium, il est légitime de s’interroger quant à la nature des facteurs qui ont contribué à l’émergence de tels espaces de production illicite au cœur de l’Asie. Si la grande souplesse écologique du pavot somnifère a certes autorisé sa diffusion, et que sa large utilisation en tant que panacée l’a favorisée, les causes fondamentales de l’ancrage territorial et de la pérennisation des économies de l’opium dans le Triangle d’Or et le Croissant d’Or demeurent toutefois problématisantes. C’est d’une géopolitique des territoires de l’opium dont il est ici question, à travers l’observation et l’analyse comparative de la distribution spatiale des productions illicites d’opiacés en Asie du Sud-Est et en Asie du Sud-Ouest. Le Triangle d’Or et le Croissant d’Or font preuve d’une étonnante permanence, mais ils sont également marqués par les mutations qui influencent tant sur la localisation de leurs aires de culture du pavot, qui tendent désormais à la concentration, que sur l’existence et la direction des axes du narcotrafic, lesquels ont récemment été multipliés de façon importante. Quant à la consommation des opiacés, elle évolue aussi, notamment le long des axes du trafic, augmentant dans les espaces de production dits "traditionnels" et apparaissant récemment depuis la Russie jusqu’à la Chine, en passant par l’Asie centrale. La genèse du Triangle d’Or et du Croissant d’Or s’inscrit dans l’histoire du pavot à opium et dans celle des relations que les sociétés humaines ont développées avec les opiacés, notamment à travers l’exploitation commerciale que les empires coloniaux européens ont pu faire de ces substances.

views and data analysis show that the leadership perceptions and practices among church leaders in Myanmar have been adopted from the monarchical values, British colonial values, western missionaries' values, biblical values, and Buddhist / socio-cultural values.

The most significant factors which influence church leadership in Myanmar are socio-cultural values, which reflect inherited dictatorial leadership styles from generation to generation. In Burmese society, leadership is seen as a position of power, authority, and control. Cultural expectations and practices reinforce such concepts in the society, which, in turn influence church leadership. Authoritarian leadership style is evident in the society. Although Christian leaders conceptually understand biblical servant leadership, they find themselves compelled to meet cultural expectations.

Note: Il volume offre una raccolta di 40 suoi articoli sui bambini e ragazzi, che mettono in risalto il suo metodo educativo: per educare bisogna amare il bambino, rispettarlo nelle sue libere scelte, nella sua maturazione psicologica e nel cammino di fede. Bisogna dargli buoni esempi e grandi ideali di vita, ma poi lasciarlo libero di realizzarli a modo suo.
